

Intellectual & Developmental Disabilities

Day Services and Programs

CSBMG offers nine person-centered day programs that teach skill developmentally disabled citizens in our communities. IDD individuals develop skills and learn lessons to integrate into their home, community, and social environments, with the goal of becoming active community members.

Each program provides:

- Community access services (group and individual)
- Prevocational services
- Supported employment
- Other educational/recreational activities

Community Living Supports Program

(Dodge, Emanuel, Jenkins, Laurens, & Treutlen)

The CLS Program offers support for IDD individuals who live independently or with family members. CLS program members benefit from services such as:

- Budgeting
- Community living/ activities of daily living
- Household management
- Transportation

S.P.I.R.I.T. Day Center

Supporting Peers In Recovery Initiatives Taskforce

Individuals with dual diagnoses of behavioral health and developmental disabilities are led by Certified Peer Specialists (CPSs). Through S.P.I.R.I.T., leaders and members can connect, learn new skills, make friends, share opinions, and be heard!

S.P.I.R.I.T. members are referred through different avenues, and must meet admission criteria.

Residential Programs

Community Service Board of Middle Georgia offers eight Community Residential Arrangements (CRAs) that provide room and board to IDD individuals.

Homes are located in Dodge, Laurens, and Treutlen Counties and offer:

- Assistance with reaching goals
- Assistance with activities of daily living
- Meals
- Recreational/leisure outings
- Self-supervision of medication
- Transportation

Family Support Services

IDD individuals and families are provided disability-specific services based on their unique needs. Families belong together, and individuals are best served in a community setting. Family support services promote cohesive family unit while helping individuals live at home, participate as an active member in their community, meet everyday needs that are often critical in avoiding family crises.
